*Argentina: Yesterday's general elections occurred without major incident, but extremist Peronists are still threatening to attempt a revolution.

Incomplete returns (as of 0400 EDT)--based on less than one third of the vote--are inconclusive, but thus far reveal no surprises. The three parties leading in the race for presidential electors are the People's Radicals supporting Dr. Arturo Illia; the Union of the Argentina People supporting retired General Pedro Aramburu; and the Intransigent Radicals supporting Dr. Oscar Alende.

The extent to which Peronists followed orders to vote in blank or abstain is still not clear but appears short of Peronist hopes. The usual abstention rate of 10 to 15 percent may be increased because of bad winter weather, but the Peronists will claim credit for both abstentions and the normal blank vote of three to five percent.

On the eve of the elections, the head of the "62 Group," Peronist-controlled unions, reportedly warned of civil war and told the press that "revolutionary abstention and casting blank ballots will mark the beginning of our offensive aimed at retaking power for the people. . . ." Also on 6 July the Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor called a general strike for 12 July to protest the elections.

The armed forces continue strong security measures.

NOTES

USSR - Communist China: The secret Sino-Soviet talks are continuing in Moscow. Both sides have somewhat moderated the level of their press polemics.

Nationalist China - India: Chiang Kai-shek is reported to have decided to cancel plans for establishing an unofficial representation in India. He is reportedly angered by Nehru's unwillingness to accept an overt mission and by the continued Indian desire to maintain relations with Peiping. India had suggested in late May that Chiang's representative postpone his return to New Delhi.
